WAR IS EXPECTED BEFORE MONDAY.

Washington, April 19.—The president will sign the Cuban resolutions and ultimatum this afternoon.

It is believed Spain will get three or four days' grace, in which she can accede to the demands of congress and avert war. Spain's answer will have to be clear and distinct if she hopes for peace.

The warlike situation here today is such as to please the most radical friends of Cuba.

Washington, April 19.—Speaker Reed and Vice President Hobart signed the Cuban resolution before noon. They were then hurried to the President who will sign them immediately.

Madrid, April 19.—The action of the American Congress in passing an ultimatum has produced intense excitement throughout Spain. But there are no indications that the government will yield. Orders have been issued for reinforcing the port of Porto Rico and for the formation of another squadron. Enlistment offices have been opened all over Spain and volunteers are pouring in by the thousands. War is here regarded as a certainty before Monday.

Washington, April 19.—At 12:07 p. m. yesterday the Senate resolution was received in the house and read, the Democrats applauding when the recognition clause was read. After the reading of the resolution Mr.
Dingley moved to concur with an amendment striking the recognition clause, and then moved the previous question. After some parliamentary sparring the House voted by yeas and nays on the Dingley motion to concur with the Senate in the amendment, but striking out the Cuban independence recognition. The motion carried by a vote of 179 to 156.

The actual form of the motion, which was reduced to writing, was as follows:

I move to concur in the Senate amendment to the joint resolution with an amendment striking out the first paragraph, the words 'are and' and also the words 'and that the government of the United States hereby recognizes the republic of Cuba, as the true and lawful government of that island,' so that the first paragraph of the Senate amendment will read as follows:

First.—That the people of the island of Cuba of right ought to be free and independent.

Washington, April 19.—After one of the hardest fought battles of the two houses known in many years, congress has come to an agreement upon the most momentous question it has dealt with in a third of a century.
Its provisions mean the expulsion of Spain from the island of Cuba by the armed forces of the United States.

The first conference showed a determination on the part of the house not to yield a single point and it was only after a long consultation with house leaders that they agreed to allow the little words 'are and' in the first section of the senate resolution, which declares that the people of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent. The resolution as finally adopted is that reported from the senate committee on foreign relations, with the addition of the fourth section known as the Teller amendment disclaiming any intention on the part of the United States to acquire Cuba.

Washington, April 19.—The contracts for the transportation of troops have all been made and today the army intended for Cuban occupation is on the move. The crack cavalry regiment, the Sixth, which is situated across the river opposite the city, will march this evening. They will pass through this city, and great crowds will throng Pennsylvania avenue to cheer the initial military movement from here.

Major General Miles will start for Atlanta tonight to assume active command of the army in the field. He will choose his headquarters at once. He will be accompanied by his three aides, McRae, Morse and Davis.

There is much interest felt here as to the disposition of General Lee.
Lee will take the field. The president will appoint him a brigadier general of volunteers, if congress does not authorize the president to appoint him to the regular army.
Assistant Secretary Roosevelt is set in his purpose to resign his post and take active service in the field. Gen-Lee will ask the New Yorker to be come his chief of staff, with a rank commensurate with the post he gives up. Roosevelt is an ardent admirer of Lee, and his friends believe he will accept the post as chief of staff to the Virginian.

AMERICAN PEOPLE SPEAK AT LAST.

The Words That Will Make Cuba Free and Independent, and End the Rule of the Spaniards.

THE ULTIMATUM TO SPAIN.

The Resolutions Agreed Upon by the House and Senate That Will Be Signed by the President Today.

Whereas, The abhorrent conditions which have existed for more than three years in the Island of Cuba, so near to our own borders, have shocked the moral sense of the people of the United States, have been a disgrace to Christian civilization, culminating as they have in the destruction of a United States battle-ship with 266 of its officers and crew while on a friendly visit in the Harbor of Havana, and cannot longer be endured, as has been set forth by the President of the United States in his message to Congress on April 11, 1898, upon which the action of Congress was invited. Therefore,

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled:

First.—That the people of the Island of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent.

Second.—That it is the duty of the United States to demand, and the Government of the United States does hereby demand, that the Government of Spain relinquish its authority and government of the Island of Cuba, and withdraw its land and naval forces from Cuban and Cuban waters.

Third.—That the President of the United States and his advisers be directed and empowered to use the entire land and naval forces of the United States and to call into the service of the United States the militia of the several States to such an extent as may be necessary to carry these resolutions into effect.

Fourth.—That the United States hereby disclaims any disposition or intention to exercise sovereignty, jurisdiction or control over said island, except for the pacification thereof, and asserts its determination when that is accomplished to leave the government and control of the island to its people.

Senator Dingley says: "I sustain the President's views, and I think it was wrong to recognize the present government of Cuba, because we hardly know enough about it. However, I voted for the passage of the resolutions, because I am satisfied that Spain blew up the battleship Maine; and because of her treatment of the people in Cuba. Even at this time I think the house is resulting in the better of the two. I think the president has been treated very ungener-ously by some senators, as well as the press."

The resolutions are a masterly arrangement of war and a plan for peace, but they failed to stem the tide of patriotism.

They say the destruction of the Maine is a question of fact and should be left to arbitration; that the cruel-ity and oppression of the poor in our own land equal that in Cuba; that war will only suffer to both Cuba and the United States; that a Cuban republic would be more erratic and oppressive than the Spanish rule; that the speculators would make money while the workmen of the two nations shot each other down; and that a foreign war would lead to the city along the shore. An attempt was made by the government officers to purchase the present telegraph line from Fort Morgan to Mobile, but failed, and the new line was commenced on Western Union poles

Mobile, Ala., April 19.—Defenses of the channel and harbor here have been completed. The whole bar channel is mined with gun cotton and dynamite and hundreds of torpedoes are placed at irregular distances a mile from the fort, which is now the most strongly fortified position in the gulf. It will be connected by telegraph with Mobile and by cable with Fort Gaines, whence the wire will lead to the city along the shore. An

COMMERCIAL CONVENTION.

The Kentucky State Commercial Convention to be held in Louisville May 11th and 12th is a most important step taken in the right direction. No state in the Union has more to gain by concerted action along the lines of commercial development than has the State of Kentucky. Nature gave the state a geographical location that secured for her an early settlement, and by the choice set of pioneers that ever laid the foundations of an American Commonwealth. Kentucky's remarkable position in American history, her large roll of honored names, including, as it does brilliant stars in every walk of public life, is due solely to the excellent quality of the blood that coursed through the veins of her early settlers. The character of those brave people who blazed their way through Kentucky's forests and chose the ever-famous Blue Grass section has imparted a character to Kentuckian that has justly made it a matter of pride to be a native of the state or even a citizen by adoption.

The peculiar location of the state, however, has operated against her commercial development. Hemmed in as she is by mountain ranges and big rivers, the path of commercial development from the East to the West passed north of Kentucky; and, from the East to the South, to the east of the state, thus leaving Kentucky to a great extent out of the great "booms" that built up the West in late years have transformed the commercial aspect of the South. Added to these natural causes, may be the facts that the Blue Grass portion of the state has been distinctly agricultural, while those parts vantage to Paducah. This city has unrivaled advantages in all lines that go to make a successful manufacturing and commercial city. As a location for manufacturing enterprises she is unsurpassed. There is hardly a manufacturing enterprise in the whole state that could not have prospered here with equal success. We look for the coming Commercial Convention to impart some of its enthusiasm to the business men and property holders of Paducah and that she will become in fact what she is entitled to be by reason of the many advantages resultant from her splendid location,—not only the pride of the Purchase, but one of the Queen cities of the South.

MCKINLEY A STATESMAN.

New York Herald, Independent.

The tone of the President's message is warlike, but conclusions are peaceful. All things considered, the President has taken a step for peace.

He stands with a drawn sword. It is for Spain to say whether the blow shall fall.

While peace hangs on the horizon, no matter how low, we must do homage to peace. We cannot fight an unjust or hasty war. First we all means to conciliate. Failing in that, all means to crush. The nations speak the voice of humanity. As one of the brotherhood of nations we at least must pause and heed.

To have declared war, to have whirled a proud, martial, angry people into war, to have precipitated, like Polk, a policy making war inevitable, would have been a blunder. Let us applaud the courage which dared to stand erect and not bow to the passing whirlwind of unreason. War, however truculent, is always accepted. It appeals to a dominant spirit of the people to have made himself the most popular of our citizens. His aim would have been a music hall chorus. The bowery would have canonized him. There would have been McKinley cigars and cravats and bicycles. The yellow journals would have been irridescence, the yellow politicians would have nominated him for the Presidency.

Kentucky has, however, thoroughly awakened to the fact that she is one of the richest states in the whole Union, not alone in fertile soil, but those natural resources of coal, timber, clays etc. that go to make up the raw material used in manufacturing. Railroads have been built, dreamed of coal mines have been developed, and the state's vast timber resources have been liberally drawn upon. Cities and towns have sprung up, forges and steel plants have been built, with the minor industries that follow such large plants. In fact Kentucky can truly be said to have entered upon a prosperous career of manufacturing development.

Much, however, remains to be done. No concerted effort has yet been made to bring the wonderful resources of the state before the investing public. The attitude of the state towards new comers and new enterprises has not been of that hearty and cordial nature that is calculated to attract the home-seeker and investor. The idea has gone forth, unwittingly it is true, that the outsider does not meet the enthusiastic welcome in this state that he does even in some states farther to the South.

For these reasons we believe the coming Commercial Convention at Louisville is a move in exactly the right direction. While, perhaps, the immediate results will be most particularly to the advantage of the city of Louisville, the Convention cannot help but be of vast importance to the State. What benefits Louisville must bestow on the state at large, even new manufacturing plant located in Louisville will increase the demand for the agricultural, mineral or timber products of the State. Furthermore, every new plant located in Louisville turns the eyes of the inventing world not only to Louisville, but to the whole State. Louisville is the commercial center of Kentucky. The whole State should take in her growth and development. Louisville's prosperity cannot but be contagious, and we would hail with unfeigned pleasure the day that she becomes the commercial metropolis of the whole Southwest.

The Commercial Convention should also be of great ultimate ad-true and intrepid in the American character will honor the wisdom that can see through the stormy swells of heaven in their darkest hour and the courage to still point the way to justice, humanity and peace.

The Owensboro Confederate Veterans' Association endorsed General Fitzhugh Lee and announced their loyalty to the government; and that has happened right under the nose of the Owensboro Messenger, the only paper that we have thus far heard from that has so far forgotten all semblance of decency as to cast a slur upon the honored name of General Fitzhugh Lee.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Under no circumstances will the Democratic party take up Gen. Lee, a gold bug, for President!" exclameth an excited organ of Mr. Bryan. And that is exactly the situation. If you want to damn a man in the eyes of the free silver monopoly, whatever his services to his country or his innate ability may be, just say that he is a gold bug.

THE COMMANDER OF THE ARMY.

Portland Oregonian.

Gen. Miles' record is that of an exceptionally gallant and able soldier. With the single exception of Gettysburg, General Miles participated in every battle of the Army of the Potomac, from Yorktown to the surrender at Appomattox Court House. From September, 1862, until the close of the war he commanded in battle his regiment, brigade, division, and for a short time the army corps to which he belonged, having been wounded four times. He was perhaps engaged in more hard-fought battles than any other general officer of our army, including thirty distinct battles, and over 100 serious affairs in which artillery, cavalry and infantry were engaged.

CITY COURT JOTTINGS.

Interesting Session of the Police Court Today—Judge Sanders Again Commends the Cow Ordinance.

Marshal Collins Gets a New Uniform—Judge Campbell as Prosecutor—Other Police Notes of Interest to Readers.

Judge Sanders took occasion this morning to assert that the present stock law was merely a plaything. He had two cases against well known citizens for allowing their stock to run at large inside the city. Both defendants claimed that they knew nothing about their horses being out, and the warrants had to be dismissed.

The judge also ventured the opinion that the long lost cow law, was constitutional, and a good law, despite Judge Bishop's decision to the contrary.

Henry Pike was docketed for malicious cutting, and Guy Randall with being an accessory. The boys had a dispute at Ninth and Clark streets last night, and the Pike boy is charged with slashing James Vance on the hand with a knife furnished by Guy Randall. The boys are said to have been reading chap novels. The case was set for tomorrow morning. The boys are out on bond.

Grandison Moore, colored, was before the court as prosecutor in the case against Mary Talbot. He swore she used such dreadful language that the court forbade him repeating it so the spectators could hear. The attorneys and two principals gathered at the bench, and the naughty words were repeated to the court. The woman left shaking her head in silent remonstrance. She denied it all when called to the stand. It seems that she and the man have been quite good friends, and he broke the news gently to her Saturday that he was also a good friend to her sister. This made her mad, and she said he could not enjoy the blessings of both. This occasioned the trouble, and the warrant was dismissed. The woman was told to go, and not to harm Grandison.

Then there was George McFall, also of color, and he was charged with mistreating Ida Elder, whose virtue is not of the most desirable kind. He confessed, and when asked why he hit the festive Ida, he said that she would not mind him. No, she was not wild, he said, but had been living with him since they got out of jail together. It cost him $10 and the trimmings.

John Bell, alias "daylight," was acquitted of the charge of using a cotton hook on Harry Hubbard, and released. Hubbard has not been seen since the memorable fray.

James Jordan was fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

Sam Moore, a one-legged boot-blacker, was fined $5 and costs for twisting Jim Pryor's arm, and counterfeiting his cap. It seems the boot-blacker asked the boy to go and have a guitar pawned. He was refused a pawn ticket, which made Moore mad. He told Pryor to go back and get the ticket or get his head beat off, and the pawnbroker told him he was too young, and that if he didn't get out he would get his head knocked off. Thus confronted, he could only submit to being decapitated, and he preferred that one of his own color do it. Moore attended to the little duty with more or less success.

Bud Davis, colored, charged with breaking into Mr. F. R. Parham's stable, was before the court, and his case was turned over to the grand jury for its consideration.

Lucy Woodson and Mary Goodwin, of color, were charged with lighting, but the case being unready for trial, they were remanded to the lockup until tomorrow.

Judge James Campbell appeared as prosecuting attorney this morning instead of Mr. Wheeler Campbell, who had to attend to his duties in the circuit court, as counsel for the defense in the Frank case. The judge makes a good one.

Marshal James Collins appeared this morning in a new suit of light blue, which is nearly a gray. It is a handsome uniform, different from any of the other uniforms of the police, and when asked where he got it, said that Mark Hanna gave it to him.

The following telegram appeared in yesterday's Louisville Times, dated Frankfort, Ky., in reference to police judge claims:

"State Inspector Lester is this morning writing out a special report, sealing the claims of Police Judges Henry Hines, of Bowling Green; Saunders, of Paducah, and Harrison, of Henderson. The claims are for holding examining courts in felony cases. They will be sealed over one-half."

The above claims are for trials of cases in which two persons were charged with a felony, and there was one trial of the case. Judge Sanders' stated when shown the above that he had beaten in contests over similar claims so many times that he had no fear of the above. The claims are trivial, anyhow, and do not amount to a great deal.

Officer Fred Hoyer is now on the river front beat, down at the wharf, to watch the heartless teamsters. His old beat at the Union depot being filled by Market Master Ingram, who formerly had the river front beat after market hours.

The supervisors of the city tax books will finish their work tomorrow and adjourn. Quite a number of cases as well as reductions have been made.
